

April 2009 Church Newsletter

Head Elder's Report

Dear Members and Friends,

We are living in a time of great uncertainty. Church members are facing job layoff's, our pastor situation remains unsettled, pension plans have disappeared, and just yesterday we learned of an airplane crash in Montana that took 14 lives, half young children. While these are not people I know personally, they are friends and family of many of my friends. The grief for those, friends and family members have to be all but unbearable.

These are all things that test and strengthen our faith. They remind us that by looking up at Jesus we have the absolute promise of life eternal where there will be no more ugly uncertainties.

Church Life

It has been an eventful last few weeks. We had a combined social and Pathfinder fundraiser with 75 church members participating.

We are continuing our Bible studies and moving rapidly toward the April Evangelism Series. Please keep this outreach effort in your prayers. We will be inviting those we have been studying with and the neighbors around our church. In addition there will about 40,000 brochures mailed to the Mountain View area. Please plan on attending these meetings that will be held April 10, 11 and 13, 14 at the Santa Clara Convention Center, and will continue the following three weekends at Mountain View Central. We can use some help with registration, Child Care, Greeting and Prayer.

On Wednesday March 24 Kylee Gumm and Diana Ishikawa will be starting a Vegan cooking class at Whole Foods Market on El Camino at 7:00 pm

Winterfest was a huge hit! It was standing room only for both performances. Milton is already working on the program for next year.

Pastor Search

There is nothing new to report since the conference president was here a few weeks ago. We need to keep this matter in prayer.

May God bless you abundantly and draw you closer each day.

In the grip of grace.

Head Elder

Prayer Meeting

Prayer comes to its own; enter into its lawful heritage of mighty power only with men who have reached the end of themselves and are clinging to God. Power in prayer did not come to Jacob while he strove in his own strength, but when he clung in his own helplessness. “What poor humans are we, that God must needs let us be driven into the stress of necessity and helplessness because in no other way can He constrain us to betake ourselves to pray to Him!” Yet it is even so. Do we pray when the wind is a-beam, the skies fair, and our ship running free before the breeze? Nay, but when the mast is over bound, the ruder gone, and the ship in the trough-then we pray. Do we pray when our loved ones are in prosperity, health, and strength? Nay, but when the sober-faced physician shakes his head, and says he has done all he can, and death’s shadow settles down over the chamber of a precious one-then we pray. Strength is self-reliant and thinks it needs no God. But weakness is driven to God-reliance and there learns the secrets of the prayer life. Helplessness begets dependence-dependence leads to prayer; and prayer brings power. Out of our own insufficiency into God’s sufficiency, by the pathway of prayer, is the secret of power. Wherefore self-strength may be worse than weakness. For the weak man learns to cling and pray. But the strong one stays self-centered and misses God.”

Empty Bowls Soup Supper

When: Sunday, April 26, 2009

Time: 4:00 – 6:00 p.m.

Place: Mountain View Central SDA Church
1425 Springer Road, Mtn. View, CA 94040

There is a story about a man who left this earth and was taken on a tour of the inner realms. He was shown a room where he saw a large group of hungry people trying to eat dinner, but because the spoons that they were trying to eat with were longer than their arms; they remained frustrated. “This,” his guide told him, “is hell.” “that’s terrible!” exclaimed the man, please show me heaven!”

Very well,” agreed the guide, and on they went. When they opened heaven’s door, the man was perplexed to see what looked very much like the same scene: There was a group of people with spoons longer than their arms. As he looked more closely, however, he saw happy faces and full tummies, for there was one important difference: The people in heaven had learned to feed each other.

The Empty Bowls Soup Supper is part of the Alpha Omega Community outreach comprised of a group of 15 churches that feed, house, and help to rehabilitate a select group of homeless people. They host the Soup Supper fundraiser at one of their churches. Potters generously donate the bowls for the event. The public attend and take home a soup bowl of their choosing after a delicious meal.

Minimum donation of $15 a ticket.

Religious Liberty News

Our nation is facing an economic crises unlike anything we have seen in decades. In response, the government has already taken drastic measures to get us back on course. We are certainly in uncharted waters and Adventists are wondering how this financial collapse fits in with end-time prophecies.

Visit <http://www.religiousliberty.info/blog/?p=90> to read Barry Bussey's thoughts on the economy and Sunday laws.

Barry W. Bussey is a native of Newfoundland, Canada. He has two undergraduate degrees (B.A. in Theology and LL.B. in Law); two master degrees (M.A. in Political Science, and LL.M. in Constitutional Law); and is currently studying for his PhD in Law at Osgoode Hall Law School at York University (Toronto).

Barry served as pastor for two churches in Newfoundland. He was legal advisor for the Seventh-day Adventist Church in Canada from 1996 to 2008. We are very excited to now welcome Barry to the Office of Legislative Affairs on Capitol Hill!

Visit <http://www.religiousliberty.info/blog/?p=85> to read Barry Bussey's most recent blog about following one's conscience and the importance of "living our faith".

Obama has wasted no time in fulfilling his promise of bringing change to the White House. In the early stages of the Obama presidency, we can already see significant departures from the policies and ideas of the previous administration. But what do these changes mean to Adventists and other people of faith? Old controversies regarding separation of church and state and abortion have suddenly become new again. To see Barry Bussey's take on these divisive issues, read his blog at <http://www.religiousliberty.info/blog/?p=86>.

The controversy over publicly displayed religious monuments has flared up again in the state of Utah. Visit <http://www.religiousliberty.info/blog/?p=91> - to read Alan Reinach's take on the case that has re-ignited this ongoing debate. Alan is a minister and law graduate of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. Alan hosts the nationally syndicated "Freedom's Ring" radio show and directs the Adventist Church's Religious Liberty department in the Pacific Union.

AVOID THE EDGE, By Gordon Botting, DrPH, CHES

A story is told of a very wealthy gentleman who lived in a palatial mansion, on a high mountain, overlooking the surrounding valleys. The only problem was that reaching his gorgeous manor house required traveling along a very narrow winding road with a steep mountain slope on one side and sheer drop off on the other. Due to the early retirement of his current chauffeur, he placed an ad in his local paper for a new limousine driver. When he conducted the interviews, he asked each person one very important question, "How close can you safely drive along the edge of my winding road?" The first prospect responded, "Sir, I can drive within two feet of the edge and feel perfectly safe." The second individual answered, "Sir, I can drive within twelve inches of the edge and you will be safe and sound." The third person replied, "for your protection, Sir, I guarantee I will drive as far away as is possible from that edge and keep you and your family out of harms way." The last applicant became the new driver.

What about you? Are you living too close to the Edge? The Edge is a miserable and desolate place to live. Individuals who exist from one paycheck to another live there. People who have no financial plan hang on for dear life at the Edge. People who continually max out their credit cards barely survive falling of the Edge.

A Freedom Fund The remedy for living on the financial Edge is very simple: Just move away! Not two feet, not twelve inches, but as far away as possible. One thing that puts distance between you and your family and the Edge is the Freedom Fund. Some people call it a Contingency Account; others call it an Emergency Account. However or whatever you name this account or fund, it is for one important purpose – to save your financial skin when unexpected, unforeseen, and unanticipated expenses hit you broadside and threaten to push you over the Edge. The Freedom Fund is your personal debt insurance and the best alternative to using plastic.

Why do you need it? There are a number of reasons to have this rainy day Freedom Fund. First, scripture admonishes us to do so: "The wise man saves for the future, but the foolish man spends whatever he gets" (Proverbs 21:20 TLB). Secondly, Ellen White reminds us that "every week a portion of your wages should be reserved and in no case touched unless suffering actual want." Finally, according to current statistics, the typical amount the average American spent last year on those unexpected expenditures was $2,000.

From a more practical viewpoint, it seems to me that when something breaks or needs repairing in my house, it usually comes in pairs or, even worse, in triplicate. Take your appliances. First, your refrigerator defroster stops functioning, then the toaster dies, followed usually by the hair dryer quitting – and you are already late for work. When these essential appliances need maintenance or replacing, most people immediately reach for their only emergency fund – a personal loan with very high interest called a credit card.

There are two more areas that will inevitably challenge your family finances: motor vehicle and medical crises. According to one national survey, two thirds of unanticipated expenditures are related to medical care and motor vehicles.

How to fund it? Instead of borrowing for these financial crises, begin putting money regularly into your Freedom fund. Set a goal of $25 per week or $50 each payday until your Freedom Fund is fully invested. If you have trouble getting started, why not have a garage sale? You will be happily surprised that in one morning you may have as much as $300 to $500 as your first deposit.

How to maintain it? Once you begin to save for your Freedom Fund, you may be tempted to start seeing it as part of your long-term investments – it is NOT; it is simply money that is available for unforeseen financial emergencies. Here are the ABC's of this fund:

Availability – Because life's emergencies take us by surprise, your Freedom Fund must be in liquid cash. It needs to be in a bank or credit union account where you can get your hand on it immediately or, as the most, within twenty-four hours.

Be Safe – Unlike the stock market or mutual funds, your Freedom Fund needs to be where its principal has no risk. Saving accounts are the safest, but they currently pay little to nothing in interest. One of the best places to put this money is in a certificate of deposit (CD). A CD will pay more interest than a bank savings account but you are required to put it in for a set time period, such as 60 days, 90 days, or 1-5 year4s. If you must make an early withdrawal from your CD for an unanticipated emergency, the worst that will happen is that you will lose your interest for that period.

Continual Growth – Because you will need your Freedom Fund for a lifetime, as a good steward you will always be on the lookout for places to put this money with the best compounding interest, yet still meeting the other two requirements.

Final Words Remember, no matter the crisis, even if you are up to your eyeballs in debt, YOU MUST HAVE A FREEDOM FUND. The good news is that Murphy's Law does sometimes work in reverse: when you have your Freedom Fund fully vested, it seems financial challenges vanish and you no longer have to live on the Edge.

Seven Wonders

A group of students was asked to list what they thought were the present Seven Wonders of the World. Though there was some disagreement, the following got the most votes:

1. Egypt's Great Pyramids
2. Taj Mahal
3. Grand Canyon
4. Panama Canal
5. Empire State Building
6. St. Peter's Basilica
7. China's Great Wall

While gathering the votes, the teacher noted that one quiet student hadn't turned in her paper yet. So she asked the girl if she was having trouble with her list. The girl replied, "Yes, a little. I couldn't quite make up my mind because there were so many."

The teacher said, "Well, tell us what you have, and maybe we can help." The girl hesitated, then read, "I think the Seven Wonders of the World are:

1. to touch
 2. to taste
 3. to see
 4. to hear
- She hesitated a little, and then added
5. to feel
 6. to laugh
 7. and to love."

The room was so full of silence you could have heard a pin drop. Those things we overlook as simple and "ordinary" are truly wondrous. A gentle reminder that the most precious things are in front of you. They are your family, your faith, your love, your health (in whatever shape it's in) and your friends
